WASHINGTON, April 24.

The Secretary of the Treasury has written a letter to the Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee on the apportionment of the national currency.

He says the Senate bill (256) is seemingly general in its provisions, but in effect singles out Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Rhode Island, and reduces their circulation to a certain arbitrary standard. It practically asserts that the circulation of the National Banks in Massachusetts shall be diminished sixty per cent; that the circulation of the National Banks of Connecticut shall be diminished 74 per cent. The principle on which reduction is based is not correct. 175,000 of the rural population of Ohio or Illinois do not need a tenth part of the circulation required by the manufacturing and commercial communities of Rhode Island.

The bill is an amendment to section 21 of the present national currency act, and proposes to withdraw circulation from banks by reducing the ratio which it shall bear to their capital. It will effect the banks in all the States more or less, by a certain fixed rule. The reduction is to be effected gradually, as the circulation.

THE TERRIBLE EXPLOSION OF THE BRITISH STEAMER EUROPEAN AT ASPINWALL. The telegraph mentioned the explosion of nitro-glycerine on board this steamer, by which it was blown to pieces, and the freight depot of the Panama Railroad Company destroyed. Fifty persons are supposed to have been killed. Twenty-six bodies had been recovered at last accounts, seventeen persons were lying in the hospitals, and twenty others were missing. Seventy cases of glycerine had been shipped in the vessel under an ordinary bill of lading.

Some narrow escapes from destruction by the explosion are reported. One of the most remarkable was that of the American brig Kremlin, of the Boston Ice Company, which lay not more than one hundred feet astern of the European, immediately between her and the freight house. The brig escaped almost uninjured, her deck cabin was strained a few inches out of place, while the freight house is a complete ruin.

The following particulars of the disaster are from the Panama Star and Herald:

Nearly, if not all the local freight of the European had been delivered, when about 7 o'clock in the morning of the 3d, a terrific explosion occurred on board, which tore away the upper parts of the ship and blew several large plates off the side. The wharf at which the ship was unloading and which was some four hundred feet long, was literally torn to pieces; within a hundred feet of the freight house, and hardly a plank remained in the entire length of the structure that was not wrenched from its fastenings. Immediately in front of where the vessel lay, a gap was cut through the wharf, piles, planking, &c., all disappearing. The ship and wharf both caught fire, and the latter was saved from entire destruction only by the exertions of several citizens, who got the fire engine to work, and after a few hours extinguished the flames, regardless of the risk they incurred from another explosion of the burning ship.

The Panama Railroad Company's splendid freight-house is left a pile of ruins. The force of air caused by the concussion seems to have raised the roof—which was constructed of iron and slate—upwards a few feet, its own weight bringing it down with immense force into the building, and carrying with it both the end walls, leaving the house, excepting the side walls, which appear but little if at all injured, a mass of ruins.

Scarcely a building in the place escaped without more or less damage, those of a substantial nature suffering most. Nearly all the brick and stone buildings were badly injured, but the freight house is the only one we have heard of which has been rendered uninhabitable. Hardly a whole window of glass remains in the city, and the destruction of glass ware, crockery and such like is really wonderful.

Although many vessels were lying in close proximity to the steamer European at the time of the disaster, none excepting the Caribbean, of the same line, sustained any serious damage.

Fears being entertained that a second explosion would occur, and as the cause of the disaster was still unknown, and none of the officers or crew of the ship were left who could give any explanation of its cause, it was thought best to have the burning ship towed into the stream. The Royal Mail Steamship Tamar, Captain Moir, which had arrived the evening previous, immediately got up steam and prepared to tow out the burning ship, but before this could be accomplished another explosion took place, though not of sufficient force to cause any injury.

It was supposed to be the magazine, which contained a small quantity of powder for ship's use. The Tamar then made fast to the burning hulk and towed her out. The two vessels had barely reached the opposite side of the bay when another explosion, more terrific than the first occurred, but fortunately the ship being far from the city and in deep water, no harm resulted. The last explosion is supposed to have broken up the hull, as in less than half an hour after it occurred the unfortunate ship went down.—The top of her smoke stack is the only part now visible.

WHEELER & LYNDE, PROPRIETOR

WM. H. WHEELER, EDITOR.

☞ Business letters should be addressed to the Publishers, "WHEELER & LYNDE."

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 25, 1866.

VIEWS OF A RECENT EYE WITNESS. Mr. Sidney Andrews has recently published a volume of letters written by him, last fall during a Southern tour, as correspondent of the Boston Daily Advertiser and Chicago Tribune. The N. Y. Post gives a favorable notice of the writer as an honest candid and reliable man—and after reviewing the book, sums up his ideas and conclusions.

So far as South Carolina is concerned, his verdict is that her people really want peace. He says: "Individuals there are who rant and rave and feed on fire as in the old days, but another war is a thing beyond the possibilities of time. So far as any fear of that is concerned we may treat this state as we please—hold it as a conquered province or restore it at once to full communion in the sisterhood of states. The war spirit is gone, and no fury can re-enliven it." Still he would not then—October, 1865—have the military power withdrawn. In giving a summary of the action of the State Convention he reiterates his opinion that "the attitude of the people towards the general government is, on the whole, pretty good," and says that he has failed to discover the existence of a sullen spirit in the state. He did see, however, a general disposition toward the freedmen that was far from promising, and found among the plantation negroes "a widely spread idea that land is to be given them by the government," which, he says, "is at the bottom of idleness and discontent." This was, however, generally abandoned after Christmas.

Passing up into North Carolina to attend the State Convention, he found the rebellious spirit more alive even than in South Carolina. Sherman's terrible visitation had been most effectual logic, convincing the latter of her sins and errors, while the former was not sufficiently desolated to answer the purpose. He regards North Carolina unionism as "less a love for Union, than a personal hatred of those who went into the rebellion. Another peculiarity consists in the remarkable vitality of old party distinctions. The distinctions between 'old line whigs' and 'old line democrats' are still maintained with amusing strictness. After giving a very lively account of the proceedings of the convention, he comes to a conclusion not very favorable to the Union sentiment of North Carolina, and says that, in his opinion, a "conquered rebel will be much more easily converted into a good citizen than one of those North Carolina Unionists." His characterization of the natives of that state is not bad. He thus describes them: "Spindling of legs, round of shoulders, sunken of chest, lank of body, stooping of posture, narrow of face, retreating of forehead, thin of nose, small of chin, large of mouth—this is the native North Carolinian as one sees him outside the cities and large towns. There is insipidity in his face, indecision in his step, and inefficiency in his whole being."

The labor system he found thoroughly demoralized, while there were a far greater number of white loafers and vagrants than in South Carolina. As to the freedmen, he says: "The condition of the negro is in some respects worse and in others better than in South Carolina. He is in such minority here that he cannot enforce his natural rights so easily as he does there; but, on the other hand, because of that same fact, the essential natural rights are generally more readily granted to him here than there."

Going from North Carolina to Georgia, he witnesses and describes graphically the convention at the capital of the latter state. His judgment as to Georgia sentiment is less favorable than toward that manifested in North Carolina. He says: "There is no hearty acquiescence in the result of the war. There is no love of the Union as a unit. There is a formal assent to certain terms of restriction, but the promise is kept to the ear, only to be broken to the heart. They admit the supremacy of the federal Constitution, but they reaffirm the legality of secession." In another place he says: "However strongly the Carolinian clings to his state rights doctrine, he knows and feels that his state has been punished as a criminal for promulgating and upholding that dogma. The people of this section hold to the old faith on the abstract question, and do not seem to recognise that they stand beaten in the contest. Notwithstanding the remnants of rebel fanaticism he says that the leading men of the South "generally invite immigration, and are honest and sincere in their expression of desire for the influx of new life. They will, I am sure, do all they can to make the states safe and inviting for immigrants." He regards "the late private soldiers of the rebel army as the best citizens in the South," and thinks that the election of ex-rebel officers to civil positions affords no argument against the good disposition of the people. He says: "The sentiment which voluntarily confers honor on a man who has shown personal bravery, who has been plucky, and daring and gallant, is one we cannot afford to crush—it is one of the strong moral forces of a nation, and deserves mention rather than condemnation."

His final conclusion is that we should "make haste slowly in the work of reconstruction; temper justice with mercy, but see to it that justice is not overborn," maintain our military control, and some mediating agency between the whites and blacks for the present, and "scrutinize carefully the personal fitness of men chosen from the South as representatives in Congress."

—Quartermaster General Meigs has written a letter urging the immediate construction of the Northern Pacific Railroad, and showing that the vast saving in expenses to the government in the transportation of troops and supplies will amply compensate the government for the aid asked for by the company, and General Grant has endorsed it.

THE EUROPEAN & NORTH AMERICAN.—The Boston Advertiser in an article urging the passage of the Massachusetts bill granting a loan of $10,000 to $15,000 per mile for this Railway, says:—"The links now wanting to complete this great line in the British Provinces are so far advanced that it only remains for the company chartered by the State of Maine to secure the building of the road from Bangor to the boundary, to make the realization of this magnificent project both certain and speedy. And of this portion the greater part from Bangor to Winn on the Penobscot has been provided for, so that it only remains to complete the missing fifty miles from Winn to the boundary to ensure the opening of the whole line from Boston to Halifax. It is for aid in constructing this fifty miles that the company now applies to the legislature of Massachusetts.

"The amount of assistance tendered by the bill reported by the committee, although it is all we believe which is needed by the company, is moderate in its amount compared with the magnitude of the enterprise. It is proposed to invest in the land-bonds of the company, which amount to one million of dollars in all, the sum of two hundred thousand dollars now owed by the State of Maine to Massachusetts; and it is then proposed that upon the completion of ten miles of the road beyond Winn, one hundred thousand dollars more may be invested, and upon the completion of the road to the boundary a further sum equal to five thousand dollars per mile; so that when the line is completed from Winn to the boundary, the investment of the State will be raised to about fifteen thousand dollars per mile, besides the two hundred thousand dollars due from the Maine treasury. These investments are secured by a first mortgage on the part of the line referred to, and on the whole of the lands granted by Maine to the company, consisting in fact of the whole public domain of that State, and including upwards of 830,000 acres."

It is thought the bill will pass.

The Great National Fair.

The Lady Directors of the National Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphan Home will commence to hold a public Fair in the city of Washington on the 15th of May next—the proceeds whereof are to be devoted to the support and maintenance of the orphans of national soldiers and sailors not otherwise provided for in their respective States and Territories.

The ladies invite all who can to contribute, towards representing their State by a table at the Fair.

The charity is a noble and deserving one, and it is hoped that each State and Territory will be liberally represented.

All contributions should be addressed, "National Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphan Home, Washington, D. C.," and forwarded, if possible, ten days before the opening of the Fair.

The Institution will be opened for the reception of children on the 1st of June next, and application for admission may be forwarded immediately.

THE TEST OATH. The Advertiser's correspondent says that the Judiciary Committee of the House have prepared their report against the modification of the test oath.—They have gone into the whole matter in a thorough manner, and the report is one of the most important documents of the present session of Congress. They recite the circumstances under which the act imposing the oath was passed, and accepting the doctrine of the President, that treason is a great crime and must be made odious, they cannot find any reason for putting Congress in an attitude of opposition thereto. They do not find on investigation that men who can take the oath are so scarce in the late rebel States as the Secretary of the Treasury assumes, and they embody in the report a table showing the number of white troops furnished to the Union army by each of these States.

STRANGE STATEMENT. In a Norfolk (Va) letter in the Tribune the writer says a statement was made to him a few days ago by an ex-rebel officer of Stonewall Jackson's command, which on subsequent inquiry he discovered to be true. Speaking of Jackson, his old associate said if he had been in command of the rebel army after Antietam, the war would have been brought to a close; for that "Jackson proposed to Lee and other officers that McClellan should be delicately approached with a proposition to place him (McClellan) in command of both the Union and rebel armies, and then dictate to the Administration satisfactory terms for peace, which at that time would have been the deposing of Mr. Lincoln;" but Jeff Davis got wind of the plan and it fell through. "We thought," the secesh officer said, "that the United States government had become aware of such a plan, and that was the way that we accounted for the fact of McClellan being relieved from the command of the army."

The Fenian sympathizers down east continue to "amuse" our old rebel sympathizing friends across the border with deeply mysterious intimations as to movements going forward on this side—and thereby keep the bluenoses in a wholesome state of vigilance and activity night and day.—Somebody recently brought a pair of old wagon wheels in Eastport—whereupon the report was duly sent across the line that the Fenian light batteries were rapidly being mounted upon substantial field carriages, and that a vigorous forward movement might soon be looked for. It is said to be a fact that the St. Stephens people have been considering the advisability of destroying the bridge between that place and Calais.

POLITICAL. At a large meeting of the citizens of Leavenworth, Kanzas—the home of Senator Lane—the following resolution was adopted:—

"Resolved, That, occupying, as does the State of Kansas, a position of intense radical loyalty during the terrible contest of arms that has just closed, we feel humiliated by the recent vote in the U. S. Senate by our Senator, James H. Lane, in opposition to the Civil Rights bill, and in endorsement of the pernicious doctrines with which the President returned and endeavored to defeat that eminently just and proper measure."

The army medical officers who are investigating the cholera speak in high terms of the views advanced by Dr. E. M. Snow, the Health Officer at Providence, R. I. Dr. Snow opposes quarantines, and says there can be no possible reasons for keeping them up except to give fees to the officers. In his opinion there is an atmospheric cause which is now on the Atlantic Ocean, moving towards us. Vessels coming from ports where there has been no cholera for many years, have been stricken with the pestilence on passing through this atmospheric cause, and when that cause reaches our shores the cholera will spring up everywhere, where the social cause exists.

The Senate in Executive session this afternoon confirmed Hon. Dennis H. Cooley as Commissioner of Indian Affairs, although some of the ex-Indian agents did all in their power to oppose him.

Some nome nominations were handed in for tax collectors in Pennsylvania, but the President appeared disinclined to make appointments or to reappoint the officers appointed four years ago by Mr. Lincoln.—[Washington correspondence Boston Journal.

—A Washington rumor says Senator Cowan of Pennsylvania is to be nominated to a seat in the Cabinet.

An Invaluable Spring Medicine.
DR. J. W. POLAND'S
HUMOR DOCTOR.

This excellent medicinal remedy was first prepared by Dr. P. in 1847, and was then employed with great success in expelling humors from the blood; but in 1848, a medical friend, who was quite celebrated as a physician, especially in the treatment of humors, suggested some important improvements, which were adopted, and which have made it (so the people say,) the very best remedy for all kinds of humors known to "the faculty." This preparation is composed wholly of vegetables, among which are Sarsaparilla, Yellow Dock, Burdock, Noble Pine, Mandrake, Senna and Bloodroot. Suffice it to say, the "Doctor" is used in hundreds of families as a general medicine. Unlike many other popular remedies, it is very grateful to the taste.

Significant Appointment by the President.

High Handed Outrage by a Mexican General.

He Stops and Searches an American Steamship.

NEW YORK, April 24.

The Deputy Health Officer reports that up to 10 a. m., yesterday, there had been 10 cholera cases received from the steamer Illinois and two deaths, leaving in the hospital eighty.

Dr. Anderson, one of the quarantine commissioners, goes to Washington to-night to ask the government to give additional facilities for the treatment of cholera at this port by the use of grounds at Sandy Hook.

WASHINGTON, April 24.

It appears from official documents that in December Senor Romero addressed two notes to the Secretary of State in relation to an order issued to Major General McDowell, commanding the Military Department of California, prohibiting the exportation of arms or munitions of war by way of the frontier into Mexico. These notes were referred to the Attorney General, who said, the question raised by the Secretary of the State was whether in the opinion of the former this order was in conformity with any laws or regulations or orders in force bearing on the subject. The Attorney General says no military officers has a right to issue any order to which he cannot lawfully compel obedience by the forces under his command. The test therefore of the validity in point of law of this order is whether he could lawfully employ the forces subject to his control, to prevent American citizens and other persons within our jurisdiction from transporting arms or munitions of war as merchandise across the frontier into Mexico in the present state of affairs in that country.

The Attorney General says he is of the opinion that the order of General McDowell was intended to interfere with such trade conducted by our people as the authorities have declared to be lawful, and is not therefore in conformity with any order, but was probably intended to be directed to against military expeditions or armed enterprises carried on from this government against the belligerents contending in Mexico. Such expeditions and enterprises are of course violations of our statutes, and nothing in this opinion is intended to impugn the validity of the order in respect to them.

The Attorney General apprehends that it is well settled that merchants may lawfully sell at home to beligerents, purchasers or carry themselves to the beligerent power contraband articles subject to the rights of seizure in transitu. The right of the neutral to transport and hostile power to seize are conflicting rights and neither party can charge the other with a criminal act. This is the view taken by Chancellor Kent.

Some newspapers have recently published what purports to be a correct list of vessels to form a fleet for the protection of our fisheries on the North American coast, but the navy department has furnished no such information for reason of public policy. There is no doubt, however, that ample means will soon be assembled to provide for such protection.

The following is a list of officers recommended for promotion by the Board which was recently convened at St. Louis:

For brevet major-generals—

Irvin McDowell, John Pope, Jos. Hooker W S Hancock, J W Scofield, Howard, Terry, Ord, Park, Stanley, Humphrey, Canby, Wright, Smith, Gibbon, Jeff C Davis, J A Mower, F J Wood, C R Wood, and James Wilson.

Ranking in the order as named.

Sixty-six recommendations for Brevet rank of Brigadier Generals were made, as follows:

David Hunter, A McD McCook, J G Foster, C C Augur, Gordon Granger, George Stoneman, George Sykes, Frank Steele, G L Hartsuff, H J Warren, A Pleasonton, J A Gilmore, W F Smith, Geo Crook, Godfrey Weitzel, W B Hazen, W B Merritt, Geo A Custar, Wm T Barry, J G Barnard, Seth Williams, John Newton J W Brennan, R W Johnson, Z B Tower, J W Davidson, Eugenio Allan, W H Emery, J Grover, J W Crawford, J H Carleton, A Baird, J C Robinson, Truman Seymour, Charles Griffin, W S Elliott, H J Hunt, M W Gotty, Alfred Tully, Rob't S Granger, John H King, Frank Wheaton, R B Ayres, R O Tyler, J B A Tarbell, Adelbert Ames, Judson Kilpatrick, A S Webb, Kermer Garrard, S S Carroll, E Upton, John B McIntosh, Eli Long, Lewis D Watkins, Sidney Burbank, R C Buchanan, J C Duane, H T Clark, A Beckwith, C B Comstock, O M Poe, J H Potter.

WASHINGTON, April 24.

The Commissioner of Agriculture has received advices from Macon, Georgia, in reference to planting the cotton crop, stating that the planters generally were in the midst of planting, but that an area will be planted somewhat smaller than usual, owing to a wide-prevailing fear among the planters, that the seed has lost much of its vitality by lying four or five years in gin houses. Many planters have been compelled to plant over from this cause, thus losing two weeks of the best cotton growing season.

Forty-six persons from South Carolina, seven from Louisiana, and one from Georgia were pardoned by the President yesterday.

Vice Admiral and Mrs. Farragut are in this city for a few days. They are the guests of the Secretary of the Navy.

NEW YORK, April 24.

The Commercial's special Washington despatch says:

The President has appointed Wade Hampton, a relative of the rebel General of that name, Postmaster at Pittsburg, Pa., removing a radical.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.

Steamship John L. Stephens, from Mazatlan, arrived at this port to-day, with $16,500 in treasure. On her down trip she was seized at Cape St. Lucas, by order of Gen. Corona, and an effort was made to send her to Altata, but she was finally ordered to La Paz. Dept. Wakeman forwarded to the U. S. Consul his protest against the seizure of the vessel or intermeddling with her cargo, notwithstanding which a guard of liberal soldiers was placed on board, who ransacked her in search of contraband articles. As a drunken crowd of Liberals on shore were prepared to commit violence, Captain Wakeman deemed it expedient to give $500 in cash and a bond for $1500 more, when the vessel was released and proceeded on her voyage.

MERLIN, N. F., April 19.

Sealers are coming in with excellent fares. Three steamers—the Hawk, Bloodhound, and Petrel—have arrived, full. The latter, after one month's absence, brings 17,200 seals. Twenty-six sailing vessels, fully one-third of the fleet, have been detained by Northeast winds, in the ice three weeks, which will greatly effect the general result of the fishery.

RICHMOND, Apr. 24.

General Grant last night decided to postpone his departure for Washington until to-morrow morning. He visited the theatre last night.

Judge L. P. Thompson, of the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals, died at Staunton on Saturday.

FORTRESS MONROE, April 23.

The citizens ticket, approving the President's policy, was elected by a large majority in Portsmouth on Saturday.

The sloop-of-war Macedonian came out of her dry dock on Saturday.

The frigate Savannah has arrived here.—She will be refitted as a cruising vessel for midshipmen at the naval academy.

The gunboat Commaugh clears on May 1st for the Southern States.

Thirty-Ninth Congress.

FIRST SESSION.

WASHINGTON, April 24.

SENATE.

A message was submitted from the President transmitting a record of the Commission assembled in St. Louis in relation to Brevet appointments in in the regular army.

Mr Steward spoke in favor of the admission of Colorado.

Mr. Guthrie opposed it.

Mr Nye spoke in its support.

There was considerable incidental debate.

Mr Sherman introduced a bill to reorganize the clerical force of the Interior Department. Referred to a special committee.

Mr Sherman, from the Finance Committee, reported the Consular and Diplomatic Appropriation bills; the House bill authorizing the coining of five cent pieces.

Mr Sherman also reported a public printing deficiency bill appropriating $60,000, which was passed.

Mr Willey offered a resolution for the relief of loyal citizens of Jefferson and Berkley counties, Virginia. It is to pay them for Quartermasters' stores furnished to the army. Referred.

House.

A resolution was adopted, asking the Secretary of the Navy if naval officers had been ordered not to visit Washington.

The admission of Colorado was taken up and debated until the close of the morning hour.

Several bills were then acted upon, most of which were appropriately referred.

The army bill was then taken up.

The motion to postpone it until December next was withdrawn.

Mr Hale moved to strike out the clause making West Point graduates ineligible to appointments in subsistence department.—Rejected.

The 19th section was then passed over.

The 20th section in reference to the provost marshal's bureau, was then considered.

Mr Conkling moved to strike out the section, and caused to be read a letter from Gen Grant to Senator Nesmith favoring the abolishment of this bureau.

Mr Conkling spoke in very strong terms of condemnation of Gen Frye, against whom every offense from highway robbery up and down had been proved.

Mr Blaine defended Gen Frye and a spicy discussion ensued between these two gentlemen.

Mr Stevens moved to substitute a new section, providing that the provost marshal's bureau shall be sustained only so long as in the judgment of the Secretary of War is necessary to close up the business there, not exceeding six months from the date of the passage of this act.

The 21st section, providing for the medical department, was slightly amended.

The 22d section, relative to medical purveyors, was struck out, the project being embraced in another section.

The 23d section, relating to pay department, was slightly amended.

Adjourned.

A correspondent states that there are in London 36 King streets, 34 Charles streets, 32 John streets, 26 High streets, 25 Queen streets, 25 Church streets, 20 George streets, 18 Duke streets, and 21 New streets! One would suppose that certain names had been the fashion, and were given to every street made until another favorite arose. Of late years Victoria and Albert streets have been the popular names, and there must be a dozen of each, besides places, courts and squares.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS.

FIRE. A fire broke out last evening about half past ten o'clock in a stable on Mechanic street occupied by Mr. John Brown. It was entirely destroyed, together with the L and a part of the main house occupied by Brown and Mr. J. H. Hayes. The stock was taken from the stable, and most of the furniture was got out of the house in a damaged condition. The house was owned by Mr. Samuel B. Field, and was insured for nearly or quite enough to cover the loss; which will not probably exceed $1600. It is thought that the fire caught from a light that was carried into the stable.

BREVETTED. We understand that Paymaster Jeremiah Fenno of this city has been brevetted Lieut. Colonel for meritorious service, and contemplates leaving the service for the more peaceful avocations of civil life. He has applied to be mustered out and the request will undoubtedly be complied with. Col. Fenno has been an excellent officer, and we are pleased to notice that his merits are acknowledged by the the government.

Among recent confirmations as Brevet Brigadier Generals of Volunteers you will have seen that of Col. Charles W. Roberts, of Bangor, formerly of the gallant "Second." This is a tardy recognition of Col. W. Roberts' distinguished services services in the early part of the war.—Washington Cor. Times.

THE ATLANTIC FOR MAY is received in good season. Among other interesting articles are the following: Last Days of Walter Savage Landor; Madam Waldoborough's Carriage; Passages from Hawthorne's Note Books; A Struggle for Shelter; Dr. Johns; Killed at the Ford; The Late Insurrection in Jamaica; The Chimney Corner for 1866; The President and Congress; Griffith Gaunt, or Jealousy; Reviews and Literary Notices.

—A correspondent complains of the condition of the road between Bangor and the Veazie line, probably with reason, for good roads in the Spring of the year are hard to find in this climate. We presume that the Street Commissioner will attend to the needs of the numerous travelers over that road without a "blowing up."

—Rev. Cornelius Stone, State Senator from Franklin County, died on the 1st instant.

—Jonathan Tuesbury, an ancient shoemaker, of Portland, and a most worthy man, died on Monday last at the age of 85. He came to Portland in 1802, from Massachusetts, and prosecuted his business as a shoemaker in one street, and almost in one spot for sixty years, and till the day of his death—as we learn from the Star.

—The Bath Times says the new steamer "Spray," has commenced running between that place and Boothbay.

—Roy. H. Allen Shorey of East Orrington Maine, has been invited to the pastorate of the Congregational Church in South Dedham, Mass. Salary $1000.

—The people of Cherryfield are to have a plank road from tide-water on the river to "Still water" (at the mills we suppose).—The mill-owners build it, and the town pays $600 a year to keep it in order. "Farewell to mud," says the Republican.

—The Hallowell Gazette mentions the discovery of excellent roofing slate in Winslow, near the mouth of the Sebasticook river.

—The steamer City of Richmond was to make her first trip from Portland to Machias on Tuesday.

—There are now nine State banks in Maine. The act granting additional banking capital will enable them to go into the National system.

—The Biddeford Journal says that the New York Peat Company, to own and control the Patent Rights of the American Peat Company for the manufacture of peat as an article for fuel, for the counties of York and Androscoggin, was organized in that city on Wednesday, and the capital stock was all subscribed and paid for. E. H. Banks, James Sawyer and Thomas H. Cole are Trustees for the Company, to whom all inquiries should be addressed.

—The Farmington Chronicle says detective Burnham from the Portland Custom House, visited Phillips on Monday and "arrested" over four hundred gallons of liquors on which there were unpaid duties amounting to some $000. They had been smuggled through as an "inferior article" on a light duty, but it was ascertained by the inspector that they were of so high a grade as to bear the addition of fifty per cent of water before reaching Phillips.

PEAT. The Hartford Times says that the Hartford and New Haven Railroad Company have bought up all the peat beds lying contiguous to their road, with the view to substitution of peat for coal, as a fuel for their locomotives.

—It is said that Mrs. Jeff. Davis has gone to Montreal to purchase a place for that "noble" ex-rebel when he gets clear. The air of the United States is not now agreeable to him.

HARD LUCK. Some Mobile rebels who wanted to get away from Yankees and find their beloved slavery again, recently embarked for Brazil.

A witty clergyman accosted by an old acquaintance by the name of Cobb, replied: "I don't know you sir." "My name is Cobb," rejoined the man, who was about half-seas-over. "Ah sir," replied the clergyman, you have so much of the corn on you that I did not see the cob.

—The eight hour system was defeated in the Massachusetts House of Representatives yesterday by a vote of 109 to 52.

TRICHINÆ IN PORK. A committee of the Academy of Sciences of Chicago have made an examination of 1394 hogs taken from the different packing houses and butcher shops of that city to ascertain whether trichinæ actually exist in the swine brought to that market. The committee was composed of twelve physicians. They found trichinæ in the muscles of twenty-eight hogs. They conclude therefore, that one hog in fifty of those brought to Chicago is thus affected. The trichinæ was found in numbers varying from 48 in the cubic inch of muscle to 18,000. More than half of the trichinous specimens were found in the spinal muscles. The physicians discussing the means of guarding against the danger arising from eating trichinous pork, say—

"All that is necessary is only to cook it thoroughly, so that every portion of the meat shall have experienced a temperature of 150 degrees Fahrenheit. We cannot insist too strongly on this point. Again, by properly salting and smoking the meat for a period of at least ten days, the trichinæ, should they exist, will be certainly killed. Simple desiccation of the meat, if continued for a period of sufficient length, will also kill them. They will never be found alive in old hams, for instance. On the other hand more picking appears to have very little effect upon these worm."

In conclusion they remark:

"The panic which now prevails is unfounded in reason, senseless, and greatly injurious. We do not allude to the commercial aspects of the question, a matter of small moment compared with the great importance of pork, as the kind of meat diet upon which nine tenths of our agricultural population, North and South, mainly depend. In our view it would be folly to discard this kind of meat from our list of articles of food, when all possibility of injury attending its use may be avoided by the most simple means. Let the people but understand that only one hog in forty eight contains trichinæ at all; that only one in three hundred contains them in sufficient numbers to cause considerable danger, and that even in these cases the worms are rendered innocuous by proper smoking, drying or cooking—and we imagine that few sensible person will refuse pork as food if it suits their convenience to use it."

THE LAST "WITNESS" STORY. The Albany Argus says that at a recent trial at Auburn the counsel for the government, after severely cross-examining a witness, suddenly put on a look of severity and exclaimed: "Mr. Witness, has not an effort been made to induce you to tell a different story?" "A different story from what I have told sir?" "That is what I mean."—"Yes, sir; several persons have tried to get me to tell a different story from what I have told, but they couldn't." "Now sir: upon your oath, I wish to know who those persons are." "Well, I guess you've tried 'bout as hard as any of them."

The Cholera.

We copy from the Christian Mirror, a letter from Constantinople, written by a gentleman whose reputation is well known to our citizens It will be read with interest at this time, when the cholera is endeavoring to gain a foothold on this Continent, and should be kept for reference by every family It should be remembered that universal cleanliness and temperance in diet is ever safer and better than medicine —

DEAR SIR,—The cholera which has just left us after committing fearful ravages, is making its way into Europe, and will probably cross the Atlantic before another summer has passed.

Having been providentially compelled to have a good degree of practical acquaintance with it, and to see it in all its forms and stages during each of its invasions of Constantinople, I wish to make my friends in Maine some suggestions which may relieve anxiety, or be of practical use

1st On the approach of the cholera, every family should be prepared to treat it without waiting for a physician. It does its work so expeditiously that while you are waiting for the doctor it is done.

2d. If you prepare for it, it will not come I think there is no disease which may be avoided with so much certainty as the cholera. But providential circumstances, or the thoughtless indiscretions of some member of a household may invite the attack, and the challenge will never be refused. It will probably be made in the night, your physician has been called in another direction, and you must treat the case yourself or it will be fatal.

3. Causes of attack I have personally investigated at least a hundred cases, and not less than three fourths could be traced to improper diet, or to intoxicating drinks, or to both united. Of the remainder, suppressed perspiration would comprise a large number. A strong, healthy, temperate, laboring man had a severe attack of cholera, and after the danger had passed I was curious to ascertain the cause He was cautious and prudent in his diet He used nothing intoxicating His residence was in a good locality. But after some hours of hard labor and very profuse perspiration he had lain down to take a nap right against an open window through which a very refreshing breeze was blowing Another cause is drinking largely of cold water when hot and thirsty Great fatigue, great anxiety, fright, fear, all figure among exciting causes If one can avoid all these he is safe from the cholera as from being swept away by a comet

4. Symptoms of an attack While cholera is prevalent in a place almost every one experiences more or less disturbance of digestion It is doubtless in part imaginary. Every one notices the slightest variation of feeling, and this gives an importance to mere trifles. There is often a slight nausea, or transient pains, or rumbling sounds when no attack follows No one is entirely free from these But when diarrhea commences, though painless and slight, it is in reality the skirmishing party of the advancing column It will have at first no single characteristic of Asiatic Cholera But do not be deceived It is the cholera nevertheless Wait a little, give it time to get hold, say to yourself 'I feel perfectly well, it will soon pass off, and in a short time you will repent of your folly in vain. I have seen many a one commit suicide in this way.

Sometimes, though rarely, the attack commences with vomiting. But in whatever way it commences it is sure to hold on. In a very few hours the patient may sink into the collapse The hands and feet become cold and purplish, the countenance at first nervous and anxious, becomes gloomy and apathetic, although a mental restlessness and raging thirst torment the sufferer while the powers of life are ebbing The intellect remains clear, but all the social and moral feelings seem wonderfully to collapse with the physical powers The patient knows he is to die, but cares not a snap about it

In some cases, though rarely, the diarrhea continues for a day or two, and the foolish person keeps about, then suddenly sinks, sends for a physician, and before he arrives 'dies as the fool dieth'

COURSE OF TREATMENT

1st For stopping the incipient diarrhea The mixture which I used in 1848 with great success, and again in 1855, has during this epidemic been used by thousands, and although the attacks have been more sudden and violent, it has fully established its reputation for efficiency and perfect safety It consists of equal parts by measure of 1 Laudanum and Spirits of Camphor 2 Tincture of Rhubarb. 30 drops for an adult, on a lump of sugar, will often check the diarrhea But to prevent its return, care should always be taken to continue the medicine every 4 hours in diminishing doses 25 20, 15, 10, 9, when careful diet is all that will be needed

In case the first does not stop the diarrhea, continue to give in increasing doses 35, 40, 45, 60, at every movement of the bowels Large doses will produce no injury while the diarrhea lasts. When that is checked then is the time for caution I have never seen a case of diarrhea taken in season which was not thus controlled, but some cases of advanced diarrhea, and especially of relapse paid no heed to it whatever As soon as it becomes apparent, I have always resorted to this course. Prepare a teacup of starch boiled as for use in starching linen, and stir into it a full teaspoonful of laudanum for an injection Give one third at each movement of the bowels. In one desperate case abandoned as hopeless by a physician, I could not stop the diarrhea until the 7th injection, which contained nearly a teaspoonful of laudanum The patient recovered and is now in perfect health At the same time I use prepared chalk in 10 grain doses, with a few drops of laudanum and camphor to each But whatever course is pursued it must be followed up, and the diarrhea controlled or the patient is lost

2d Mustard Poultices These should be applied to the pit of the stomach, and kept on till the surface is well-reddened

3d. The patient, however well he may feel, should rigidly observe perfect rest To lie quietly on the back is one half the battle. In that position the enemy fires over you, but the moment you rise you are hit.

When the attack comes in the form of diarrhea, these directions will enable every one to meet it successfully

4th. But when the attack is more violent, and there is vomiting, or vomiting and purging, perhaps also cramps and colic pains, the following mixture is far more effective and should always be resorted to. The missionaries Messrs. Long, Trowbridge, and Washburn have used it in very many cases and with wonderful success. It consists of equal parts of Laudanum, Tincture of Capsicum, Tincture of Ginger and Tincture of Cardamon seeds. Dose, 30 to 40 drops, or half a teaspoonful in a little water, and to be increased according to the urgency of the case In case the first dose should be ejected the second, which should stand ready, should be given immediately after the spasm of vomiting has ceased. During this late cholera siege no one of us failed of controlling the vomiting and also the purging by, at most, the third dose. We have, however, invariably made use of large mustard poultices of strong pure mustard, applied to the stomach, bowels, calves of the legs, feet, etc., as the case seemed to require.

Collapse. This is simply a more advanced state of the disease. It indicates the gradual failing of all powers of life. It is difficult to say when a case has become hopeless.— At a certain point the body of the patient begins to emit a peculiar odor which I call the death odor, for when that has become decided and unmistakable, I have never known the patient to recover. I have repeatedly worked upon such cases for hours with no permanent result. But the blue color, the cold extremities, the deeply sunken eye, the vanishing pulse are no signs that the case is hopeless Scores of such cases in the recent epidemic have recovered In addition to the second mixture brandy (a table spoonful every half hour,) bottles of hot water surrounding the patient, especially the extremities, sinapisms and friction will often in an hour or two work wonders

Thirst In these and in all advanced cases, thirst creates intense suffering The sufferer craves water, and as sure as he gratifies the craving the worst symptoms return, and he falls a victim to the transient gratification The only safe way is to have a faithful friend or attendant who will not heed his entreaties The suffering may be, however, safely alleviated and rendered endurable Frequent gargling the throat and washing out the mouth will bring some relief A spoonful of Gum Arabic water, or of Chamomile tea may frequently be given to wet the throat "Lyndenham's White Decoction" may also be given both as a beverage and nourishment in small quantities, frequently In a day or two the suffering from thirst will cease. In a large majority it has not been intense for more that 24 hours

Diet. Rice water arrowroot, Lyndenham's White Decoction, crust water, Chamomile tea, are the best articles for a day or two after the attack is controlled Chamomile is very valuable in restoring the tone of the stomach

The Typhoid Fever A typhoid state for a few days will follow all severe cases There is nothing alarming in this It has very rarely proved fatal. Patience and careful nursing will bring it all right. The greatest danger is from drinking too freely — When the patient seemed to be sinking a little brandy and water or arrowroot and brandy have revived him In this terrible visitation of the cholera, we have considered ourselves perfectly armed and equipped, with a hand bag containing mixture No 1, mixture No 2, (for vomiting, etc,) a few pounds of pounded mustard, a bottle of brandy and a paper of Chamomile flowers, and a paper of Gum Arabic.

I lay no claim to originality in recommending this course of treatment I have adopted it from suggestions of able and experienced physicians. Having been the only Doctor of many poor families living near me, I have tried various remedies recommended by physicians, but I have found none to be at all compared with the above. During the recent cholera I cannot find that any treatment has been so successful as this

Contagion The idea of contagion should be abandoned All the missionaries who have been most with the most malignant cases day after day, are fully convinced of the non-contagiousness of the cholera The incipient attacks which all have suffered from are to be attributed to great fatigue, making the constitution liable to an attack

In another letter I will give you a description of the cholera as we saw it, and of some individual cases.

Yours truly,
C HAMLIN

MUTTY'S
Friction Feed Roller,
FOR CIRCULAR SAWS.
PATENTED JANUARY 23d, 1866

THIS INVENTION is applicable to all Circular Saws provided with stationary tables and used for re-sawing lumber.

It reduces the labor of sawing one half, and fifty per cent more lumber can be sawed with, than without its use It is applied without change of existing machinery, is not liable to get out of repair, and not expensive to apply.

It has been in practical use on the Penobscot river for one year, where the above facts have been fully and satisfactorily demonstrated, as is shown by the certificates of master mill-men, machinists, owners and operators of mills appended hereto.

The undersigned have for the past season witnessed the practical use of MUTTY'S FEED ROLLER in re-sawing lumber, and we cheerfully recommend it as a practical, economical, and labor saving invention, destined to come into general use in all cases where lumber is re-sawed upon stationary tables. We are fully satisfied from our own observation that the saving effected, and extra amount out by its use, is fully as large as the estimate above given.

STATE OF MAINE.

OFFICE OF SECRETARY OF STATE, Augusta, March 1, 1866

CIRCULAR.

THE Act of the 23d of February last, providing pensions for certain classes of disabled soldiers and the widows and minor children of those deceased of the War of 1861, will necessarily impose upon the State Department duties somewhat analagous to these of the Pension Bureau at Washington, though of a comparatively limited character Considerable time will therefore be required by the Council, in whom is vested the supervision of this new department of business, in determining the mode of procedure and preparing the requisite blanks therefor

Early in the ensuing May session of that Honorable body forms and regulations, with a copy of the law, will be promulgated

Applicants under this statute, who are, or may be, in the receipt of a pension from the United States Government, will not require the assistance of agents or attorneys in preparing or presenting their claims for the State pension
